Sustainable Campus: Landscape of Joy

16-19 APRIL | Campus Politécnico - BioBIP 2 TechTRANSFER

Landscape Architecture and Design Workshop

There has been a growing interest in creating more sustainable and people-centered urban environments in university campuses. In this context, landscape architecture and design play a crucial role in conceiving spaces that promote interaction, health, well-being, and connection with nature.

The current Workshop - "Sustainable Campus: Landscape of Joy" workshop emerges as an opportunity to explore and reimagine the concept of a sustainable university campus, integrating principles of human-centered design and innovative design and landscape architecture practices. Throughout this event, participants will be challenged to conceive outdoor spaces that not only address the functional needs of the campus but also inspire the academic community and promote a healthier and more sustainable lifestyle.

During the workshop, participants will have the opportunity to collaborate in multidisciplinary teams, integrating knowledge from architecture, landscape design, urban design, sustainability, and well-being, being encouraged to explore creative and innovative solutions, using sustainable materials, regenerative design techniques, and permaculture principles to create spaces that respect the environment while promoting climate resilience.

Moreover, the workshop will provide a platform for sharing best practices, experiences, and learnings among participants, fostering dialogue and collaboration in developing solutions to the contemporary challenges faced by university campuses.

During the workshop, students will fulfill 2 Micro-Credencial in Sustainable Design (2 ECTS) and Creative Planning (2 ECTS).
